

AN NC CHAMBER EVENT

Ag Allies Conference

SEPTEMBER 29, 2022
RALEIGH, NC

Steve Evans
Director of Community Development
Smithfield

Steve Evans joined Smithfield Foods in 2019 where he serves as the Director of Community Development. Steve is based out of North Carolina where he is responsible for developing and promoting Smithfield's strategic vision surrounding its humane treatment of animals, stewardship of the environment, safe and high-quality foods, vitality of local communities and creating a rewarding and safe work environment.

As a native of Eastern North Carolina with over 24 years of community development experience, Steve believes in holistic community development strategies. Steve has worked tirelessly in developing foundational community development strategies in the areas of affordable housing, small business economic development, renewable energy and rural community and agricultural empowerment. Additionally, he serves on various boards, task forces and committees in the promotion of diversity, equity and inclusion.

Steve resides in Knightdale, North Carolina with his wife Michelle. They have four grown children and one granddaughter. He is an alumnus of NC A&T State University where he majored in Business Management.