Jessie King focuses her legal practice on environmental issues. A former chief attorney for the SC Department of Environmental Services, she has substantial experience helping companies obtain environmental permits, respond to notices of violation and environmental lawsuits, understand regulatory requirements, and negotiate business transactions. Jessie has worked with manufacturers, utilities, solid waste businesses, mining companies, and agribusinesses on complex environmental state and federal matters throughout the southeast and beyond. Her experience over the last 30 years spans matters affecting land, air and water involving environmental laws such as the Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, RCRA, CERCLA, TSCA and their state analogs.

Jessie has been long recognized as a leading environmental attorney by Chambers USA (2017-2025), and Best Lawyers in America®.

She is a past-president of Carolinas Air Pollution Control Association, Board Director of the SC Chapter of the Solid Waste Association of North America, and active member of the SC Aggregates Association, NC Manufacturers Alliance and the Southeast Chapter of the National Waste and Recycling Association, among others.
