Angie Maier

Valley View Insights

Angie Maier has worked in and around NC politics for the last twenty-five years. She is the founder of Valley View Insights, a lobbying and government affairs consulting firm in Raleigh, NC. The McDowell County native is a key lobbyist for trade associations representing the cattle, dairy and pork industries.

She previously served as the director of government affairs and sustainability for the NC Pork Council for fifteen years. Before that, Angie worked on staff at the NC General Assembly in several different capacities, including as a policy analyst in the Office of the NC Speaker of the House of Representatives and a legislative assistant to two state senators. Early in her career, she also managed several state legislative races.

As a lobbyist, Angie has achieved successful outcomes under both Democratic and Republican majorities on issues involving general agriculture and farming, regulatory reform, manufacturing and processing, transportation, and renewable energy, among others.

Some of her most notable work includes the passage of several bills that made changes to the state's right-to-farm laws to protect farmers from frivolous nuisance lawsuits; two of which required securing enough votes for a veto override. In recent years, she has worked with lawmakers and regulators to identify and remove obstacles to the development of swine renewable natural gas projects, and to secure funding for a cost-share program to help swine farmers install methane digesters.

Angie holds both a bachelor's and master's degree from North Carolina State University.
