Mack McGuffey
Partner
Troutman Sanders

Mack represents electric utility, landfill, and other industrial clients in connection with important air quality issues arising out of federal and state regulations governing the construction and operation of stationary sources of air emissions. He helps his clients decide when to obtain applicable permits, how to comply with applicable regulations and what to do when enforcement challenges arise. Mack also helps his clients participate in the EPA and state rulemaking actions that are relevant to their businesses so they can prepare for compliance with any new rules and challenge those rulemakings when necessary. Mack received his BBA and JD from the University of Georgia and has practiced law at Troutman Sanders since beginning his practice there in 2003.
