

AN NC CHAMBER EVENT

Health Care Conference

SEPTEMBER 20, 2019 | DURHAM, NC

Aaron McKethan, PhD

Assistant Professor of Population Health Sciences, Duke University School of Medicine
Senior Policy Fellow, Duke-Margolis Center for Health Policy

Aaron McKethan is an assistant professor of population health sciences in the Duke University School of Medicine and a senior policy fellow at the Duke-Margolis Center for Health Policy. He recently served as the chief data & analytics officer for the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services. Previously, he was a co-founder of RxAnte, a health care analytics company with the mission to improve medication use at a population scale. Before that, he was a senior official at the Office of the National Coordinator for Health IT and a research director at the Brookings Institution. Aaron's work has appeared in such publications as the Journal of the American Medical Association, the New England Journal of Medicine, and Health Affairs.

Aaron completed his B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from UNC Chapel Hill and lives in Durham with his wife and four children.